

The Economics of Natural Hazards, 2 Volume Set (International Library of Critical Writings in Economics)

In this two-volume set the editors have brought together some of the most significant previously published papers by leading academics in this field. The Economics of Natural Hazards investigates the impact of natural disasters on national and regional economies. Volume I considers the effects both of the perception of risk and of direct losses and explores the costs of reducing the impact of disasters by, for example, forecasting, self-protection and the building of physical structures. Volume II deals with mitigating the costs of disaster through insurance, including financial coverage for catastrophic loss, and investigates the development of private - public partnerships for managing disasters and the problems of reconstruction and recovery. A final section addresses the particular problems of disasters in developing countries. 52 articles, dating from 1964 to 2002

"I believe that I can bring a lot to the table in terms of our experience in the Barrie and surrounding area Real Estate market, our knowledge of the Community and our study of the Environment." An award winning Realtor and "Hall of Fame" award of excellence. "I will only take on the new business that I can handle" "I am not interested in stock piling listings with the hopes that, by the law of averages, some will sell." There are already signs that in the near future energy costs will continue to rise. When shopping for a new home, it is imperative that buyers compare homes based on the normal criteria of location, size and functionality along with the homes potential for energy efficiency by concentrating on insulation, type of windows, furnace, roof, age of the structure, type of wiring, type of plumbing, lot grading and the potential to grow your own food should you desire. We can make this process easier for you with our knowledge of the area builders over a long period of time and our training on efficiency and energy efficient products. We can point out periods of rapid growth when homes in our city were not well constructed and were rendered very poor on the scale of energy efficiency. We can point out builders that meet LEED standards or Green standards and have built to the highest levels of efficiency. Quick Search Search Featured Property RE/MAX Chay Realty Inc.
