

The Locus of Control Orientation of Battered Women in Homes: A Case Study of Nairobi Province, Kenya

This book explains how wife battering is very common in many countries in the world, including Kenya. Muthoni Mainah elucidates to the reader how women battering are alarmingly wide spread and cuts across a variety of cultures, class, age and religion. It is the only experience that binds women, be it in the first, second or third worlds. Wife battering has prevalent in the traditional societies in Africa and elsewhere in the world. The author write at length how women world over experience physical abuse in the place that should be considered safest-the home. Such that many women live in fear of being attacked by those they love - their own husbands. She talks about wife beating being a domestic in nature and regarded as of private domain, wife battering is seldom reported. This leaves the victim to suffer in silence and leads to under documentation, therefore concealing the intensity and the prevalent nature of the act. The book is a very resourceful handbook to undergraduate and postgraduate. The communities who are in wife beating situation will also find this book very helpful.

She has an interest in the environment and passionate about the community and how we are living on this planet. Sitting on the board of "Living Green" and the steering committee of "Transition Barrie," she is well advised about the concerns and problems facing residents. "I believe that I can bring a lot to the table in terms of our experience in the Barrie and surrounding area Real Estate market, our knowledge of the Community and our study of the Environment." An award winning Realtor and "Hall of Fame" award of excellence. "I will only take on the new business that I can handle" "I am not interested in stock piling listings with the hopes that, by the law of averages, some will sell." Karen is hard working, dedicated and determined to provide the best possible service to her clients and customers. Why use a "Green Realtor"? There are already signs that in the near future energy costs will continue to rise. When shopping for a new home, it is imperative that buyers compare homes based on the normal criteria of location, size and functionality along with the homes potential for energy efficiency by concentrating on insulation, type of windows, furnace, roof, age of the structure, type of wiring, type of plumbing, lot grading and the potential to grow your own food should you desire. We can make this process easier for you with our knowledge of the area builders over a long period of time and our training on efficiency and energy efficient products. We can point out periods of rapid growth when homes in our city were not well constructed and were rendered very poor on the scale of energy efficiency. We can point out builders that meet LEED standards or Green standards and have built to the highest levels of efficiency.
